Skate Night

We've had a lot of fun skating recently. Over the past few months we've had one skate event a month. This past Saturday night was our last for this Adventurer year. (We really missed some of our faithful skaters). We were really impressed by many of our youngest Alligators who progressed from novice to mad skating skill in no time at all. We also invited our friends, classmates and other Adventurer age kids to join us. We wanted them to see how much fun we have and invite them to join our club.

Before skating, we had a science-filled devotional. Our 'Adventurers' Science Lab' included many experiments. One included many flasks filled with different liquids that changed various colors when a purple substance was added. Stacie told our club that we were like the clear liquid. We all have a lot in common. We have arms, legs, feet and toes, eyes, nose, a head and hair. In the Bible, Paul even talks about us Christians as a body. But we also have something uniquely special. The purple liquid is like the talents that God gives us. There's a special ability that He has given to each of us. We may be really good at reading, or maybe we can talk really well. Some of us are fearless. Others are really good friends. There are many talents. We need to give our talents to God so that we can be a 'whole' body and accomplish great things for the Lord.

Afterwards, the Alligators headed to the gym for some free skating followed by half-court hockey for those who brought helmets. We also provided some light refreshments as a club fundraiser.

We would like to thank our Atholton Alligators and parents for making our skate night a success and our leaders and volunteers for helping us provide a positive learning and fun-filled environment.
